Steps to Reproduce:	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Login to user account• Open a contact within a contact group• Scroll to the map coordinates section and click around the map, moving the pin to different locations.• Observe that while you are moving the pin, information on the page behind the form is being highlighted and the page is moving around. (See attached photos)• Observe on attached photo that pin instructions message was duplicating. After cancelling contact update the problem went away.
Expected Result:	The popup contact form editor should not allow the page behind it to be accessed.
Actual Result:	The popup form editor is allowing the page behind it to be moved around and highlighted when map coordinates are selected.

Description

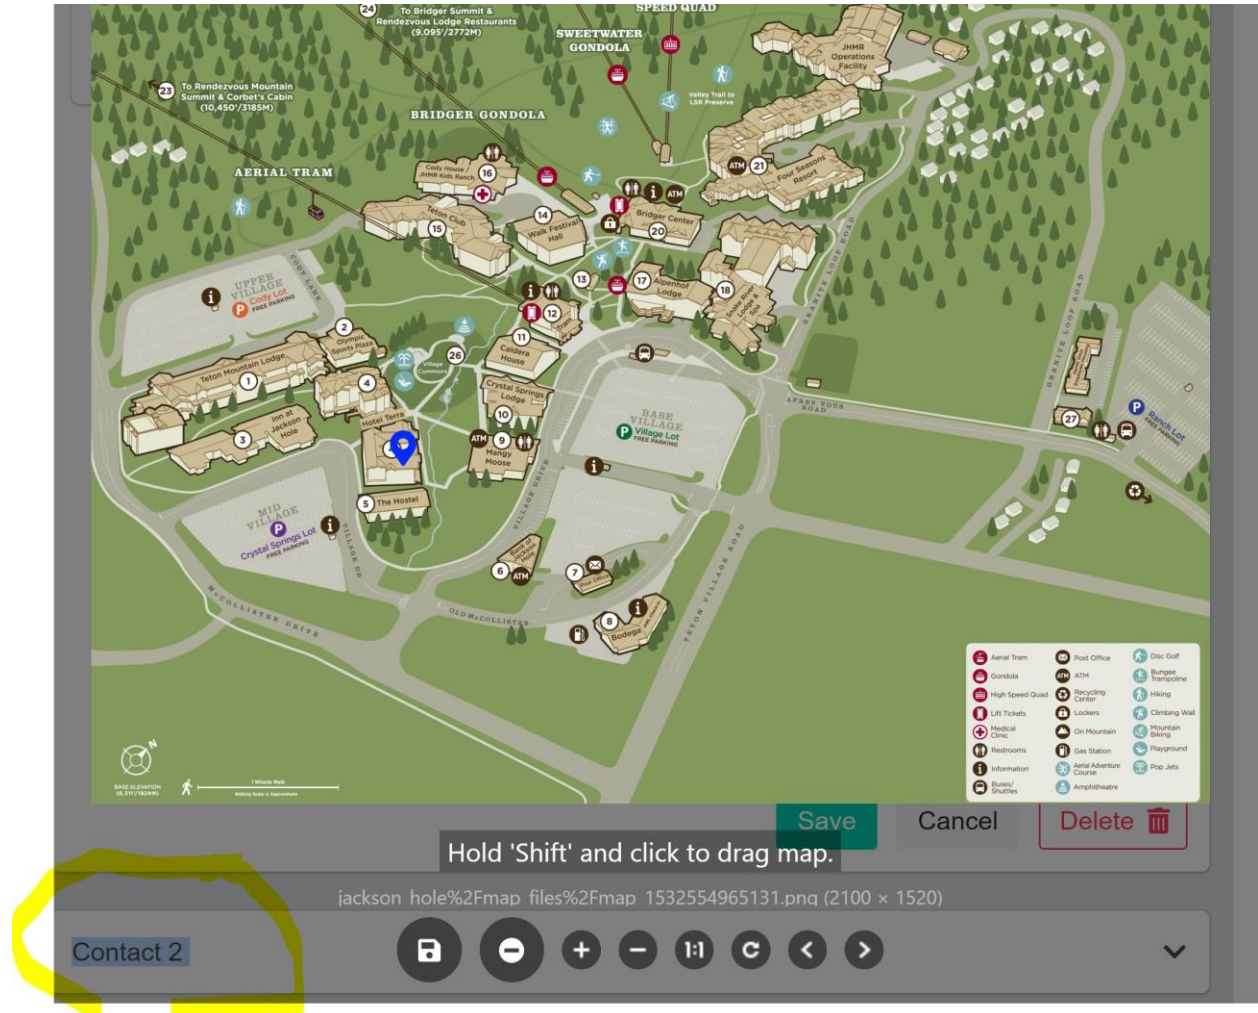

- When entering map coordinates into a contact details form, as you click the pin selector around the map it is highlighting information and moving the contact groups page behind the form.
